

THE DAILY ARGUS.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., NOV. 17, 1892.

THREE GOOD MAGAZINES.

We think the best issue of the Cosmopolitan magazine that we have seen for some time is that for November. The editor W. D. Howell, has a story. Sir Edwin Arnold has another article on Japan. Murray Halstead has a description of the city of Hamburg. Geo. W. Collier writes on "Excursions to the common people of the South." Archibald Forbes describes the fall of Constantinople as a war correspondent for one of the newspapers of today might have described it. Prof. Haupt writes of the "Growth of Great Cities." Prof. Boorse completes his story "Social Strugglers." John Barrows talks; Barrows always talks and talks well about "Bird Courtship." Rev. E. E. Hale delivers a discourse on Forestry, taking as his text Epping Forest, the 5,000 acre park to the East of London. This is an excellent array of contributors. Besides there are thirteen other articles, prose and poetry, by writers not so well known.

The November number of the Arena comes to the front with several good articles, among them we note a review of Lord Salisbury's Afghan Policy by the English divine, Rev. Thos. Price Hughes. It is interesting to state that Dr. Hughes believes that history will vindicate the policy of Lord Salisbury, and that a conflict with the Queen is inevitable. Haulin Garland, author of several very realistic stories of Western farm life, treats of the "West in Literature." Joaquin Miller furnishes a strong poem describing Western life, which he prints under the title of "Down in San Diego," although a dozen other titles could be found that would suit it better; and last of all the editor, Mr. Flower, has an article in his own vigorous style on "Some of Civilization's Silent Currents."

From the Pacific coast there comes a most interesting magazine, the Overland Monthly, a genuine product of the Western type of civilization. As one would expect, this San Francisco journal devotes itself largely to the good points of the West. Two articles attract our attention at a glance; one about one of the greatest Western public institutions—the Lick Observatory; the other about the natural scenery of the country: "A Trip to the San Lucia Mountains." From these one gets a glimpse of man and nature in California. Both find very happy expositors, the one in Prof. Millicent Shinn, of the Astronomical department of the University of California; the other in Mary L. White, who saw what she described and describes it well. There is also an excellent sketch of that true American of the old school, George W. Curtis.

Thanksgiving Day.

RALEIGH, Nov. 11.—Governor Holt to-day issued the following thanksgiving proclamation:

"From the establishment of the Government to the present time there has been a period in the history of our commonwealth in which the Supreme Being of the universe has more richly bestowed upon His blessing or indicated more clearly His purpose to preserve for us our civil and religious liberties. To the author of all good we owe whatever of peace, prosperity, or happiness we have enjoyed during the past year. The people of North Carolina have much, for which to be thankful, and while the world has not yet paid her greatest abundance, our people are yet blessed with moderate and reasonable returns for their labors."

"In conformity therefore with the recommendation of the President of the United States, I, Thomas M. Holt, Governor of North Carolina, do appoint Thursday, November 24th, as a day of thanksgiving, praise and prayer, and I do earnestly request that the people of the State lay aside all secular business and assemble on that day at their usual places of worship in humble thanksgiving for the past blessings and prayer for the continuance of Divine favor."

"In order that our service may be pleasing and acceptable let us remember in our prayers and substantial offerings the needs of the widow and orphan, the disabled soldier, the poor and afflicted and all institutions established throughout the State for their proper care and maintenance."

A Carb.

The reports being circulated about me, some of which have found their way in the public print (I presume, upon what was thought authentic information) have misrepresented me and done me an injustice. I desire to say that my residence in Goldsboro, of over twenty-five years, has not made me insensible to the good opinion, respect and confidence of my citizens. All those years my duty interested me as well as business relations, have been such that I was slow to believe that rumors damaging, as many in circulation are, would be given credence by those who knew me.

The report that I attended a prayer meeting in Little Washington on Sunday, or at any other time since, or during my life, is wholly without foundation.

That I appointed or called, or was in any way directly or indirectly instrumental in having the meeting in Little Washington on Monday night, or knew of such meeting until Monday, is untrue.

That an agreement with a prominent Democratic candidate, Mr. W. R. Allen, was that I should go to Stony Creek that night, and it was well known that I expected to do so as late as 4 o'clock Monday, I was persuaded to let others go, and I remained in the city.

That this Monday night meeting or any other was held in the public school building, is also a mistake.

That I advised or counseled the colored women to attend any meeting or attend the polls for any purpose whatever, is wholly a fabrication, with not a shadow of truth to base such a report upon.

I did not say one word, in perhaps a twenty-minutes talk, that I would not have said in the court house or public square in the presence of any of the citizens of Goldsboro. I did not reach the meeting in time to hear or know who had spoken, and did not know where the meeting was to be held until I reached that end of the city and made inquiry.

In justice to my friends who have not believed the reports and to those who have given them credence, I submit the above, with my declaration that they are the facts.
